If the outdoors is your thing, Cave City is sure to please. From ziplining, canoeing and biking through Mammoth Cave National Park, the park is home to some fantastic trails. Lace up your hiking boots and hike the trails.

8

Cave City is also a fantastic spot for the shopper. Local boutiques, specialty stores, antiques and markets are on every corner. If you're feeling groovy, stop by Hippy Joe's or A Groovy Gal. The Market Ky is an eccentric shop with a wide range of goodies and custom-made shirts. Paul's Antiques, located downtown, has the coolest pieces.

There is a cave crawl. Yes, Cave City is home to Mammoth Cave National Park but there are also several individually owned caves to visit. Stop by Crystal Onyx Cave, Outlaw Cave (Jesse James slumbered in this cave hiding from the law) and Onyx Cave and Rock Shop. The formation in these caves is sure to take your breath away.

Cave City is home to a mecca of food. Several local restaurants pepper the area. Bucky Bee's BBQ is in the heart of Cave City and was once on Guy Fieri's All-American Road Trip. Looking for a burger? Hit up Five Broke Girls, which was recently voted the best burger in Kentucky by Kentucky Living Magazine. Watermill Restaurant is also located in the heart of Cave City and has a stellar buffet. Maybe you need something on the sweeter side? Cave City Creamery is your home to ice cream. Head downtown and check out Cave City's newest business, Ace Coffee Company, and get your coffee fix.

Cave City is home to several large attractions. Home to the giant T-Rex off I-65, Dinosaur World is Cave City's best prehistoric attraction. Hit the longest twin zip line in the state at Mammoth Valley Park. Rent e-bikes at Adventures of Mammoth Cave and cycle through Mammoth Cave National Park. Cool off at Raven's Cross Village of Adventure with their virtual reality attractions. Horseback ride at Jesse James Riding Stables. Lastly, stop by the Mammoth Cave Wildlife Museum and check out the animals on display.
